

AML sets strategic priorities with 2026-28 Single Programming Document

4 FEBRUARY 2026

AML's Single Programming Document for 2026-2028, published today, is the Authority's first multi-year plan, setting out priorities and timelines as it moves from foundation to delivery. It contains AML's work programme and provides a roadmap for the market.

The SPD gives an overview of scheduled mandates for 2026 and AML's strategic objectives across three core deliverables: completing the Single Rulebook, advancing supervisory convergence, and strengthening cooperation among Financial Intelligence Units.

These are translated into action via five interlinked activities that will shape AML's work in 2026 with an impact across the 3 years covered in the SPD:

- (i) delivering on core regulatory mandates
- (ii) advancing direct supervision
- (iii) operationalizing the FIU framework
- (iv) laying the foundations for indirect supervision and oversight, and

(v) building AMLA's risk frameworks.

A roadmap for the market

AMLA continues its preparatory work to deliver effective outcomes with the principles of simplification in mind, prioritising areas that provide clarity and direction for the industry - including rules on customer due diligence and business relationships, and a consistent framework for supervisors across the EU. The SPD gives the market guidance for preparation and information on upcoming mandates, offering the opportunity for input via public consultations.

Scaling operations

In parallel, AMLA is scaling its organisation to support effective delivery: growing its workforce, developing IT infrastructure, and putting in place the structures needed to fulfil its mandate. Staff numbers are expected to grow from 120 at the end of 2025 to 432 by the end of 2027.

"AMLA's first Single Programming Document sets out our path to full operations, providing clarity for the market while we build an Authority that is technically excellent and grounded in cooperation," said AMLA Chair Bruna Szego.
